IV. Legal basis for data collection

The legal basis for collecting the data required for processing your registration and conducting the competition is Art. 6 (1)(e) and (3) General Data Protection Regulation (EU GDPR), in accordance with Section 4 of the Landeshochschulgesetz Baden-Württemberg, LDSG (State University Law)

V. Recipients of your data

During the course of this competition, the organizers will transmit your data to the following recipients:

1. Members of the jury

After the deadline for submissions, the five members of the jury will receive all first and last names along with the submitted photographic material to allow them to pick the photos for the exhibition and determine the three winning pictures. All jury members will be informed that this data may only be used for the purposes of this event and is to be destroyed after its completion.

2. The general public

Along with the photographs, the first and last names of the selected participants will be made public during the exhibition at the University Library (and at any additional possible venues) as well as in print, online, and social media postings. If necessary, participants may be asked to submit additional consent forms.

3. Press

After consent is granted, the first and last names and portrait photos of the four award winners will be passed on to local and regional media representatives for the purpose of providing press coverage.

4. Budget Office

The Budget Office will receive a list of the award winners, including their bank details, exclusively for the purpose of transferring the prize money.

VI. Duration of data storage

1. After the competition is over, i.e. roughly one to two months after the closing of the last exhibition, the participants' first and last names, email addresses, and postal addresses will, as a rule, be erased and destroyed.
2. One exception to this rule is that the award winners' first and last names, along with their bank details, will have to be retained in the records on file for a period of 10 years, in compliance with financial and accounting regulations.
3. Another exception to the erasing rule is that the first and last names of the participants in the show will be saved for an indefinite amount of time in our image database for the purpose of storing the photos and possibly reissuing or exhibiting them to the public again in the future. Saving the names primarily serves to provide evidence of copyright.

VII. Your rights

1. You have the right to be informed of the personal data that the University of Freiburg has on file about you and/or to rectify any inaccurate information.
2. In addition, you have the right to have data erased, limit the use of data and/or object to the use of data.
3. If you would like to assert your rights with regard to the University of Freiburg, please contact datenschutz@uni-freiburg.de

4. Furthermore, if you have consented to your name being made public within the scope of the exhibition or – if you have won an award – have consented to your name and portrait photo being released to the press, as well as the processing of your bank details, you have the right to revoke your consent at any time. Doing so does not however affect the legality of the data processing that was conducted on the basis of your consent prior to the revocation. If you intend to withdraw your consent, please contact info@pr.uni-freiburg.de.
5. You also have the right to file a complaint with a supervisory authority for data protection if you are of the opinion that the collection and/or use of your personal data has violated your rights.

An appropriate authority for this would be the Landesbeauftragte für den Datenschutz und die Informationsfreiheit Baden-Württemberg, Königsstrasse 10 a, 70173 Stuttgart.
